

Artemis House Concert

Last night was our third "Live from Covent Garden" house concert.

This time, something completely different: Artemis.

Since the band is staying with us for their U.K./London tour we thought a house concert would be fun. Wow, was it! The audience was a mixture of old friends and many new faces.

The set opened with Magnatune artist, Michel Jordan, who records as Mijo. Artemis band member and Magnatune artist Daniel Berkman accompanied Michel on electronic hand drums and kora (a beautiful 21-stringed harp/lute from West Africa). The music was fabulous. And the lighting was extra cool, with beautiful shifting colors.

Then Artemis took the stage with Daniel Berkman and drummer Cliff Tune, Ben Davis on Lighting and Keith Crusher on Sound Mixing. It was one of the most amazing things I've ever heard. The audience was extremely enthusiastic and it was exciting to hear so many happy comments during the dinner break.

After dinner, Daniel Berkman played some of his gorgeous solo work and it was, once again, amazing. Then all three Artemis bandmembers finished off the evening. The audience was so excited they demanded an encore!

It was one of the most fabulous evenings, ever.
